

2018 Journalism Internship

The Wisconsin Jewish Chronicle is offering a journalism internship for college students. This is an unpaid position that will give you writing and reporting experience. You will publish work samples that you can show to prospective employers. Employers tend to prefer published work samples. Internet and social media experience is also available upon request.

- TRAIN AND WORK AS A REPORTER
- GAIN REAL-WORLD EXPERIENCE
- BUILD A PORTFOLIO FOR FUTURE JOBS
- SERVE THE JEWISH COMMUNITY

You will be given assignments and direction by Rob Golub, editor of the Milwaukee-based Chronicle and former editor of The Journal Times, Racine County's daily newspaper. Golub's Racine newsroom won several first-place

Wisconsin Newspaper Association and Milwaukee Press Club awards. Golub's former interns (from The Journal Times) have worked at Facebook, BuzzFeed and newspapers around the nation. There are two part-time internships. One is during the spring and the other is for the summer semester of 2018. Interns will work up to ten hours per week at Milwaukee Jewish Federation offices at 1360 N. Prospect Ave. in Milwaukee.

Deadlines to apply are November 1, 2017 for a spring internship and April 1, 2018 for a summer internship.

To apply, send a resume, GPA, links to writing samples or attachments, and preferences regarding spring or summer 2018 to RobG@MilwaukeeJewish.org. Please put "Journalism internship" and "spring applicant" or "summer applicant" (or both) in the subject line of your email.
